

Fred Tyler Died Morning After The Funeral of His Mother

From Silvia Patten
Jan 1999

Carnegie Branch Library for Local History
Boulder, Colorado

11
12
13
14
15
16
17
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17

Fri
Sat
Sun
Mon
Tue
Wed
Thu

Born In Blackhawk In 1867 of the Pioneer Captain C. M. Tyler Family, He Had Lived In the West Ever Since Resided North of Town and Was Owner of Well Known Stone Quarry.

Fred Tyler, pioneer of Colorado, and son of Mrs. Sarah Smith Tyler, who died last Saturday night, passed away at his home on North Nineteenth street at 8:45 this morning of uremic poisoning and bronchial pneumonia.

Oct 14

Oct 14

Mr. Tyler became ill with a cold Saturday. He thought nothing of it until yesterday when his condition became so bad that he was unable to attend the funeral of his mother. A physician was called and he was ordered to bed, but did not go probably because he did not realize the seriousness of his illness, and further that he might watch the funeral of his mother, which was held at the old home place across the road from the Fred Tyler home at 2 o'clock.

Tues Oct 14

At 4 o'clock Mr. Tyler became delirious. At 2 o'clock this morning it became evident that he was dying. Members of his family, his two brothers, Frank and Lu, and Mrs. Lu Tyler were at his bedside.

Oct 17

Born at Blackhawk.

Mr. Tyler was born at Blackhawk Oct. 27, 1867, seven years after the arrival of his parents, Capt. and Mrs. Clinton Tyler from Baraboo, Wis. When he was 7 years of age, the family moved to Boulder, and Mr. Tyler was educated in the school of this city, later at a military school in Vermont, and still later at the university. Upon his father's death in 1886, Fred Tyler and his brother, Lu, went to Wyoming to attend to an estate there. Later both went to Nevada where Fred Tyler became interested in mining. He was married at Lovelock, Nev., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lu Tyler on Dec. 23, 1907, to Mae Robinson of Detroit who survives him, with their son, Monroe.

1914

In 1914 Mr. Tyler and his family returned to Colorado and lived in Denver for three years before coming to Boulder. They built one of the finest country homes to be found in Boulder county on a tract west of his mother's home at Nineteenth and Third avenue.

Your house built ca. 1917

This one was Cedar

Mr. Tyler became interested in a stone quarry in Four Mile canon, and from it sold stone to a Lutheran Synod that built a beautiful college of it at St. Louis. Later he sold considerable stone to the Union Pacific railroad and some crushed rock for paving in Boulder.

Mr. Tyler was ill for years, and had an operation at Mayo's that required his return there once a year for the clinics until recently.

Surviving Mr. Tyler are his wife and son, Monroe, the two brothers mentioned, and more distant relatives. He was a member of Boulder Lodge No. 44, A. F. & A. M., and of the Knights Templar, Mount Sinai Commandery of this city.

The body is at the Tippet-Hall mortuary. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Mrs. Mae Tyler Dies Early This Morning Of-Heart Disease

Mrs. Mae Robinson Tyler, widow of Fred L. Tyler, died at 5:30 this morning in Community hospital of a heart attack suffered Tuesday night. She was removed to the hospital Wednesday from her apartment, 1045 15th, when her condition became serious. She had suffered a number of heart attacks before.

1949

Mrs. Tyler had been a popular resident of Boulder since 1917 when she, Mr. Tyler and their son, Monroe moved to Boulder from Denver. As Mae Robinson, she was married to Mr. Tyler, Dec. 23, 1907 at Lovelock, Nev., where he was interested in mining. They lived there until 1914 when they located in Denver. Mr. Tyler was a son of Capt. and Mrs. C. M. Tyler, prominent Boulder pioneers. His death occurred Oct. 15, 1928 shortly after the death of his mother.

Soon after moving to Boulder, Mr. and Mrs. Tyler built a lovely home on North 19th street which Mrs. Tyler sold several years ago to Mr. and Mrs. Lu P. Monroe. Mrs. Tyler was for a number of years housemother of Pi Beta Phi sorority. She resigned the position in 1944, to go to Detroit to make her home with a sister, Mrs. Albert L. French, but after a year there returned to Boulder to be near her many friends here. She was one of the most popular housemothers of the Pi Phi's ever had and was also a popular member of the Thursday Bridge Club and the Reviewers club.

Surviving Mrs. Tyler is the son, Dr. Monroe Tyler of Denver, a brother, Harry E. Robinson and the sister, Mrs. French, both of Denver. Mrs. Howard M. Williams of North 19th is a sister-in-law. Albert L. French, Jr., is a student in the University Medical School, is a nephew.

Body at Howe mortuary. Funeral arrangements later.

Lorraine I have clippings
from the Daily Camera.
I found them wanted & copied (like this) in the landmark designation papers of the Tyler home on 20th.

Silvia Patten